

Blurb for Spooked

Why does the old lady make such a big deal about inviting young couples to dinner? Why is there a uniform up in the attic? Who is the strange girl in the film?

Then there's the printer that goes mad, the delightful house in the countryside, and the fruit machines that behave oddly at the local bingo hall.

Half the time, even though you know you're reading a collection of ghost stories, you won't know who are the real people and who are the ghosts. The characters in our stories don't either.

One thing is certain: if you dare to open the pages in this volume you'll be spooked for sure.
