

University of Salford
MANCHESTER

Teddy bears and perfumes: advertising information - knowledge management at its best!

Burke, ME

Title	Teddy bears and perfumes: advertising information - knowledge management at its best!
Authors	Burke, ME
Publication title
Publisher
Type	Conference or Workshop Item
USIR URL	This version is available at: http://usir.salford.ac.uk/id/eprint/1880/
Published Date	1998

USIR is a digital collection of the research output of the University of Salford. Where copyright permits, full text material held in the repository is made freely available online and can be read, downloaded and copied for non-commercial private study or research purposes. Please check the manuscript for any further copyright restrictions.

For more information, including our policy and submission procedure, please contact the Repository Team at: library-research@salford.ac.uk.

Teddy Bears and Perfumes -

Advertising Information: Knowledge Management at its best

Introduction

- Market classifications
- Factors affecting markets
- Factors affecting knowledge management
- Future changes

Definitions

- Defining marketing
- Defining knowledge management
- Relationship between knowledge management and marketing

Market Classifications

- Consumer and industrial markets
- Goods and services
- Geography

Factors affecting markets

- Transport facilities
- Environmental concerns
- Prices
- General social and economic factors

Factors affecting knowledge management

- Group dynamics
- Technology
- Professional skills
- Facilities
- Organization structure

Future changes

- Knowledge managers -
 - ready for dramatic changes need to position services and activities carefully
 - Be aware of rapidity of change
 - Organizations rely more and more on KM to collect, interpret and add - value to the information needed to produce the product or service

Conclusions

- Discussed definition of KM and marketing
- Looked at relationship between KM and marketing
- Market classifications
- Factors affecting way the markets behave and way in which KM are able to operate
- Future changes

Conclusions

Whether marketing Teddy Bears to children at Christmas or highly prized perfumes to a select market, the keys to success must be:

Marketing
the product

Can only be done through the skills the of a finely honed knowledge management team